DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 42-49,50-60, and 77-80 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Katsuda et al. (US 2005/0003323).

Katsuda discloses a dental device that includes: an instrument (A) having a forward end (4) that is capable of being equipped with a diagnostic/treatment tool for treating/diagnosing a lesion in an oral cavity; a light radiating unit (1) having a light source (2a) for emitting excitation light and a light source (2b) capable of emitting illumination light [0169]; wherein the wavelength of excitation light is selected from 405 +/- 50 nm [0169]; wherein the radiating unit is capable of simultaneously radiating excitation light and illumination light [0111]; wherein the illumination light is white light [0017]; wherein the light sources are laser diode (LEDs); wherein the light source is capable of variably adjusting a light emission level of the light source (via filters and choppers); wherein the radiating unit is capable of radiating light at one wavelength by switching between the plurality of light sources; wherein the light source is selected from halogen lamp [0095]; wherein the light radiating unit includes an optical filter; wherein the light's wavelength is capable of being selected by replacing filter with another filter having different characteristics; wherein the radiating unit (1) includes a radiating part from which excitation light and/or illumination light are radiated toward the lesion (Fig. 7); wherein the radiating part is capable of being disposed near a mounting portion of the diagnostic tool; wherein the device includes a power supply for driving the light sources [0108]; wherein the light emitting devices are capable of being mounted so as to encircle the diagnostic/treatment tool; wherein the radiating unit includes a plurality of light sources (2a,2b,2c) positioned at the forward end (Figs. 44, 45) and is capable of switching between plurality of light sources [0111].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 61 and 64-75 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Katsuda et al. in view of Nakanishi (US 6,607,384).

Katsuda discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for a detachable adapter having LEDs and a filter.

Nakanishi teaches a detachable adapter (60,50) that includes various LEDs. It would have been obvious to modify Katsuda to include the claimed adapter, as taught by Nakanishi, since such a device is well known in the art. Furthermore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to modify Katsuda/Nakanishi to include an adapter with filters in order to filter out light from the LEDs in Nakanishi's adapter.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
